*UE Faculty

Tina Roos is a junior music management major at the University of Evansville. A native of Tell City, Indiana, Tina has studied flute since she was ten years old. An active performer at UE, she plays principal flute in the Wind Ensemble and Orchestra as well as being a prominent member of a jazz combo and flute ensemble.

Tina was the 1984 recipient of the Romaine Benedict Scholarship. For the past two years she has taught for the Institute for the Fine and Performing Arts. Tina is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota and a student of Valerie Forstman.

Jennifer Lynne Robb, soprano, is a native of New Albany, Indiana. She is a Music Therapy major, having transferred this past fall from Indiana University. While at IU, Jenny was a member of the Singing Hoosiers and the Opera Chorus. She has sung the lead roles in Brigadoon, Camelot, Finnian's Rainbow, Oliver, and She Loves Me. She was a soloist with the University of Evansville Concert Choir in their December concert and will appear this spring as a featured soloist in Musical Madness. Jenny is a member of the UE Music Therapy Association and is a student of Roberta Veazey and presently Joan Nevill.

Lauri Ann Bowles is a sophomore music therapy major from Rockville, Maryland, a suburb of Washington, D.C. She began private piano lessons at the age of nine and is currently a second year student of Anne Hastings Fiedler at the University of Evansville.

While attending Wheaton High School, she accompanied and sang in the concert choir and a small vocal ensemble, was active in student government and drama, and was secretary of the National Honor Society. In addition, she was rated Superior and Superior Plus in the National Piano Playing Auditions each year and placed first in State Solo and Ensemble Piano Competitions several times. Besides winning various state and local awards, she was named to Who's Who Among American High School Students.

While at the University of Evansville, she has been active in Sigma Alpha Iota, a professional women's music fraternity, in which she now holds the office of Chaplain. She also has served as secretary of the University of Evansville Music Therapy Association. Lauri is a member of Kappa Chi, a Christian coed fraternity, and of Alpha Lambda Delta, a freshman honor society. She was named the winner of the Romaine Benedict Scholarship Competition last spring and received the freshman Certificate of Honor from Pi Kappa Lambda, a national music honor society. She is active in several performing ensembles and teaches piano privately with the Institute of Fine and Performing Arts.

Lauri, the daughter of Robert and Linda Bowles, plans to graduate in 1988 and then work in the field of music therapy and church music, while teaching piano privately. She would like to dedicate her performance to the Lord, who gives the gift of music, and to her loved ones who make this music such a joy to share.
